Police should align efficiency with kindness towards people - 25 /Apr/ 2010

The Leader of the Islamic Revolution Ayatollah Sayyed Khamenei receiving members of the IRI Police Force, Police Chief, and the interior minister spoke of police duties as exceptionally important, onerous, and delicate.
Ayatollah Khamenei said police should align efficiency with kindness asserting that it required meticulous planning to turn these traits into measurable factors.
The Leader of Islamic Revolution also added the police force should act in close cooperation with other law enforcing bodies, such as Interior Ministry, to have maximum efficiency.
Ayatollah Khamenei pointed to the sad events following the June 2009 elections and said whenever the authorities acted in a united fashion they obtained favorable results.
The Leader of Islamic Revolution said police should fight any form of corruption such as disruption of order, theft, riots, drug trafficking but before that it should be free from any stain of corruption.
Ayatollah Khamenei urged full awareness of the country's issues adding that with full awareness, people will not hurt.
Islamic Revolution Leader highlighted sensitivity of the Police's performance and urged for correct, proper and sincere behaviors towards the people.
"Preserving strength of the police is necessary and the police should also respect the people," Ayatollah Khamenei added.
Islamic Revolution Leader urged serious confrontation with social corruptions and said the police should seriously deal with personal, social and political corruptions.
Ayatollah Khamenei said that the police should strongly confront with those persons who deliberately or negligently endanger religious face of the community.