

Making dolls and sculptures and drawing living beings

12 /Jan/ 2017

Q. What is the view on making dolls and sculpture, or drawing living beings (plants, animals, and human beings)? And what is the view on selling, buying, acquiring, and exhibiting these items?

A: There is no harm in making the sculpture, photography and painting of beings, even if they have soul. Nor is there any harm in selling, buying, or keeping these pictures and statues. There is no objection to showing them in an exhibition either.
