Hearing the Cries of Non-Maḥram Women in Mourning Ceremonies - 12 /Mar/ 2020

question| Would it be problematic if men participating in the mourning ceremonies held in commemoration of the Ahl al-Bayt hear the cries and moans of the non-maḥram women participating in these programs given that men and women are seated in adjacent rooms?

answer| If the fact that the men can hear the cries and moans of non-maḥram women does not entail any vile consequence, it is per se unproblematic.