To Use Children's Property - 13 /May/ 2021

Question: Can a father use his children's property?

Answer: There is no problem in father's using the property of his child if he has not reached the age of puberty and rushd (i.e. when he/she can make a good decision regarding financial affairs) nor does it lead in a vile consequence for the child, but it is not permissible for the father to use the property of his adult child without his/her consent.
