Iranian nation, true victor of battle - 11 /Nov/ 2006

Islamic Revolution Leader Ayatollah Sayed Ali Khamenei Saturday admired the Iranian nation for hoisting the flag of Islamic movement and grand Islamic slogans that have nestled in the hearts of Muslims and non-Muslims, urging the Iranian nation to offer a perfect example of the Islamic system to the world by building an example Islamic community in which material and scientific progress besides spirituality and ethics ride at a high.

"The lofty idea is possible to meet but subject to the existence of sacrificing, faithful and brave individuals besides an ever-fostering bond between the nation and the government," the IR Leader underlined.

Ayatollah Khamenei brought up enemy attempts to halt the formation of such an Islamic community by their propaganda to frustrate people, especially the youth, and crack the resolve of the authorities, adding, despite all these efforts, the enemies never succeeded during the past 27 years.

The IR Leader emphasized on a brighter and more hopeful future of the Islamic system to be materialized through the strong popular trust and baking in the authorities and their firm will and due planning to resolve the problems.

The Islamic Revolution Leader said the authorities are now further confident to cover difficult routes until achieving the sublime revolutionary aspirations, adding what is currently happening in Iran is unlike the expectations of the enemies and under these conditions, the invaluable goals of the Islamic system are more likely to be materialized more than ever.

Ayatollah Khamenei said an example Islamic system provides for the talents to blossom and administers justice, adding the social justice means to provide to all the social classes the same opportunities to advance and deprive any chances from tyrants and violators.

Ayatollah Khamenei furthermore acknowledged that in the confrontation between the Islamic front and the arrogance and atheism camp, the former have commanded quite a larger share of the victories. The IR Leader attributed global insecurity, conflicts, and lack of calm to imbalance in the progress of science and spirituality in the Western civilization, adding in the Islamic civilization, the material progress is to safeguard security, welfare and calmness for the people so that they live in peace together.

Ayatollah Khamenei then turned to regional issues and tied the awakening of the Palestinian nation and the victory of the Lebanese people and Hezbollah against the advanced but tyrant army of the Zionist regime to the Islamic movement of the Iranian nation and it ensuing awakening in the world of Islam.

"It follows that the international politicians regard the Iranian nation the true victor of the battlegrounds while it had never moved to meddle with the internal affairs of other countries," Ayatollah Khamenei affirmed.

"Their view arose from the fact that the Iranian nation despite all the difficulties could hold on the honorable flag of independence for other nations under the auspices of believing in an only God as well as the last messenger of Allah, Hazrat Muhammad (S.A.) and this is a large source of pride," Ayatollah Khamenei said.

Ayatollah Khamenei lauded Sharood region for hosting religious scholars and prominent ulema, adding, the outstanding feature highlights the faith and spirituality of its residents as well as their adherence to religious and ethical values.

Ayatollah Khamenei confirmed that a nation that recognized its honorable past as well as its indigenous root values would experience a bright future, adding the single most characteristic feature of the Islamic movement was that it could make aware and upbeat the Iranian nation about its identity, capabilities, record and history and tore the fake curtain built by enemies aside from those values.