IR Leader inspects South Pars gas field - 28 /Mar/ 2011

Islamic Revolution Leader Ayatollah Sayyed Ali Khamenei arrived in South Pars gas field, Assalouya, southern Iran Monday morning for an inspection of current oil and gas production and development projects.
Experts in Assalouya briefed the IR Leader on different sections and activities of the major oil and gas field, using mock-ups and site plans.
Ayatollah Khamenei then attended a gathering of senior state mangers in oil industry and contractors where Oil Minister Sayyed Masoud Mir Kazemi elaborated on various oil and gas projects drawn up for the development of the gas field.
Next the IR Leader paid a field inspection to the site of several projects underway in the area, starting with the phase 15 of the South Pars zone.